about

Bryn Mawr Soap Company

Bryn Mawr Soap Company was founded by Karen Soderberg, a business woman, and Steve Harvey, a biochemist. They developed an interest in natural soap because of it's effectiveness in combating dry skin, a nagging problem in northern climates.

While we enjoyed natural soaps we were dismayed by the lack of an affordable, high quality, natural product. So we made our own soap and shared it with friends and family. Based on their enthusiastic response we combined our skills to boost production and started the company in January 2000.

The company is named after the Bryn Mawr (pronounced "brin-mar") neighborhood on the western edge of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Bryn Mawr is Welsh for "high hill", which reflects the parkland in and around our neighborhood. We have lived in Bryn Mawr for over a decade and have grown very attached to the local amenities (parks and merchants) and the people who volunteer their time and energy to keep this a great place to live. The name is a tribute to these people.

Bryn Mawr Soap is available online, by mail/phone, and through an increasing number of merchants—primarily grocery cooperatives and natural food stores. We keep merchant locations updated on our Web site, or call us for more information.

why you should use

Bryn Mawr Soap

At Bryn Mawr Soap Company we believe the foundation of good skin care is good soap. Soap should do more than simply clean the skin. It should help the skin retain its natural oils and provide additional conditioning from the wide variety of oils available to the soapmaker.

Skin problems can occur due to allergies, medical conditions, age, sun, and/or environmental exposure. Commercially-produced cleansing bars are actually detergents—not soap. They can exacerbate skin problems by removing glycerin and adding artificial dyes, scenting and preservatives.

Bryn Mawr Soap is made from natural ingredients using a process that retains the glycerin and some of the oils. Our soaps will help rejuvenate your skin and leave your whole body feeling great!

key points about our soap

- We don't use artificial fragrances, dyes or preservatives.
- We don't test on animals and use no animal products.
- Our soap is biodegradable.
- We use simplified packaging to minimize environmental impact.
- Our soap has a nice lather and lasts a long time.

Bulk discounts, wholesale pricing and private label manufacturing services are available. Please contact us at 612-374-3613 for more information.

ingredients

We use a single, proven, base recipe for all of our soaps—the only choice you need to make is scenting. Our base oils include olive oil, palm oil, coconut oil, cocoa butter and castor oil. Bars are mildly scented using natural essential oils and select botanicals.

Bars weigh approximately 4.25 ounces.

face and body bars

All of these soaps are great for the whole body.

cedar sage	You will love our wonderful blend of cedarwood, sage and native sweetgrass.
lavender	Our best selling soap! Lavender's unique blend of aromas is subtle and refreshing.
patchouli	Patchouli is the incense commonly used during the 1960s and 1970s. It has a distinct woody aroma.
peppermint	Peppermint is especially refreshing in the warm months to help you cool off. It's also a great wake-me-up!
spruce	Our spruce bar offers a nice "woody" aroma, especially popular among the men.
tangerine clove	This bar combines a lightly sweet citrus scent with a hint of the deeper, balancing clove. We also make this bar with oatmeal (oatmeal tangerine).
unscented	A great bar for people who just want it plain and simple, or who are sensitive to scenting agents. We also offer an unscented oatmeal bar.

Specialty Soaps

gardener bar	This bar is great for cooks, outdoor enthusiasts, or anyone who gets dirty hands. Our gardener bar exfoliates with pumice and is great for cutting dirt and grease, and for revitalizing weary hands. The aroma blend is designed to cut odors such as garlic, fish and even gasoline!
